PHAR795 Seminar - JNQF Level: 7

First Semester 2023-2024

Course Catalog

1 Credit Hours. This is a course that involves the students presenting a case study for discussion in relation to RCR or clinical medical ethics and other areas of bioethics under supervision of the instructor. The students will each take turns in presenting a selected topic and the rest of the students having discussion about it. The main aim of the course is to develop the independence and leadership of students in teaching in the area of research ethics and bioethics. The evaluations will depend on presentation of their topics and engagement in discussion with presentations of the other students.

Teaching Method: On Campus
