

Jordan University of Science and Technology
Faculty of Nursing
Midwifery Department

MW101 Introduction To Midwifery

Second Semester 2020-2021

Course Catalog

2 Credit Hours. This theory course provides opportunities for midwifery students to acquire an adequate knowledge about midwifery profession, its history, scope of practice and standards for midwifery education. It also provides the midwifery students with the basic knowledge about evidence based practice and professional issues concerning midwife and midwifery practice.

Text Book

Title	Myles TextBook for Midwives
Author(s)	Marshall, J ., Raynor, M.
Edition	17th Edition
Short Name	midwifery
Other Information

Instructor

Name	Dr. Reem Hatamleh
Office Location	N3L1
Office Hours
Email	rahataamleh@just.edu.jo

Class Schedule & Room

Section 1:
Lecture Time: Mon : 12:00 - 14:00
Room: M1304

Tentative List of Topics Covered

Weeks	Topic	References
Weeks 1, 2	Orintation
Week 2	History of the midwifery development
Week 3	Communication
Weeks 3, 4	Social cultural influences on midwifery practice
Week 5	Global health: the contribution of midwives
Week 6	International definition of midwife
Week 7	Scope of midwifery practice locally and internationally
Week 8	Roles and responsibilities of the professional midwife
Week 9	Requirements of midwifery education & profession.
Week 10	Requirements of midwifery education & profession.
Week 11	Research and evidence based practice
Week 12	Development and purpose of midwifery regulation
Week 13	Jordanian nursing and midwifery council
Week 14	Ethical and legal consideration of midwifery practice
Week 15	Concept definition and basic midwifery competencies
Week 16	Revision

Mapping of Course Outcomes to Program Student Outcomes	Course Outcome Weight (Out of 100%)	Assessment method
Integrate evidence-based practice skills when caring for a woman and/or neonate who interact with the health system, experiences low-risk and high- risk childbirth	15%
Identify the determinants of health & illness of individuals & families using multiple sources of data to strengthen the role of the midwife in promoting health & preventing unwanted complications.	10%
Use critical thinking to provide holistic midwifery care in a variety of complex healthcare settings utilizing the midwifery model to promote health, prevent complications, & maintain the well-being of women and their families.	10%
Apply concepts & skills of leadership, management, quality improvement & patient safety in the delivery of high-quality therapeutic midwifery interventions for women, and their families.	10%
evidence-based health care for women during pregnancy, childbirth and postpartum periods and their neonates within their family context across a range of settings.	10%
Communicate effectively through verbal, written & electronic medium with women and their families, organizations, communities, & members of the healthcare team, & in the documentation of data in the delivery of quality woman-centered care.	20%

Accept responsibility & accountability for professional midwifery practice including the inherent values of ethics, altruism, autonomy, human dignity, integrity, & social justice	15%
Communicate effectively through verbal, written & electronic medium with women, families, groups, organizations, communities, & members of the healthcare team, & in the documentation of data in the delivery of quality woman-centered care.	10%

Relationship to Program Student Outcomes (Out of 100%)
MW- 1	MW- 2	MW- 3	MW- 4	MW- 5	MW- 6

Date Printed: 2021-06-15