

Jordan University of Science and Technology

Parking Demand for Residential Apartment Buildings

Authors: Khaled Ghuzlan, Bashar Al-Omari, Mohammad Khasawneh

Abstract: A total of 1060 residential apartment buildings were surveyed from the major cities in Jordan for modeling the residential building parking demand as a function of the main influencing factors. It was found that the number of building apartments and the average apartment car ownership are significant factors.